jax's story

Jax Guffey was born on May 26th, 2009 and was diagnosed with a rare liver disease called biliary atresia. It affects only newborns and limits the bile flow from the liver. At two months old, Jax underwent a major surgery known as the kasai. This procedure was to promote the bile flow and prolong the life of his liver. Jax did amazingly well for several months. Then an unexpected turn for the worse came when Jax was hospitalized for cholangitis and immediately put on the transplant list.
